The most current and representative anthologies in the philosophy of literature feature articles written by contemporary Anglo-American philosophers. Davies and Matheson 2008 and John and Lopes 2004 offer comprehensive but only partially overlapping sets of major essays. Each volume helpfully organizes its articles around particular topics or problems and would serve as an excellent introduction to the field as a whole.

The philosophy of literature. Strictly speaking, the philosophy of literature is a branch of aesthetics, the branch of philosophy that deals with the question, "what is art"? Much of aesthetic philosophy has traditionally focused on the plastic arts or music, however, at the expense of the verbal arts. In fact, much traditional discussion of aesthetic philosophy seeks to establish criteria of artistic quality that are indifferent to the subject matter being depicted.
